Dear Patrick K. Lukusa,

RE: Application for a Business Analyst Job Post.

I am taking this chance to apply for a tech Business Analyst job at your Odoo tech company. I found the vacant job listing via a LinkedIn message I got about the roadshow event on 2nd March 2022.

I am a highly passionate tech enthusiast and a front-end web developer who loves solving problems that people are facing while getting into the digital world of the internet today.

I develop E-commerce websites for business owners who need to sell their products online to customers, track their sales online and also manage their businesses online so as to increase their profit margins by ensuring full customer satisfaction.

I do also have an active learning mindset for professional growth as a front-end web developer through networking and team collaboration.

I am looking forward to joining your company and offering my coding skills, networking skills, soft skills, and team collaboration skills by adding value to your company.

At your most convenient time, I am hoping to get a positive feedback from you. Thank you in advance!

Best regards,

Gichure Maina.
